The work of the Commission has a real economic value. There are 12,360 miles of running streams in Kentucky, which under present conditions produce considerably over one million dollars worth of food fish each year, when figured at 10 cents per pound, which could easily be doubled if the laws of the state be enforced.

In 1912 the game warden captured and destroyed 1,083 hoop and wing nets, 67 seines and traps, and tore out 32 dams and fall traps. It is estimated that one hoop net will take 1,000 pounds of fish a year, so the 1,083 nets which were taken from the streams 300 miles of streams represented 1,083,000 pounds of fish a year.

The United States Government, through its Fisheries Department, have facilities for distributing fish to the various states, but they have refused to plant fish in territory that is not protected, saying it was useless to liberate fish in waters not protected. So those states which had warden service and protected their streams got the bulk of the public distribution. But Kentucky is coming into her own, as shown by the Government reports:

In 1912 there was liberated in Kentucky 2,453,570 live fish.

In 1913 there was liberated in Kentucky 160,497 live fish.

In 1914 there was liberated in Kentucky 12,427,270 live fish.

In 1915 there was liberated in Kentucky 8,702,916 live fish.

The State Commission distributed, in 1914, 8,473 live fish.

In 1915 (this spring) 8,029,083 live fish.

Total number of live fish distributed in Kentucky in 4 years was 31,781,809.

UNTIE HIS HANDS

GIVE PEOPLE GREATER POWER

The people of Kentucky are interested, deeply interested, in education, as is shown by the advance made in the last ten years. The people want this development and advancement to be of a strong and lasting type, but this can not be accomplished either rapidly or consistently so long as the school system remains in politics. Every good citizen and parent in the state wants the management of their children's educational advantages directed from politics.

A new and untried man, no matter what progress he was making. This is exactly what the state is now doing with its important business, the business of manufacturing strong citizens out of the raw material of child-life. It is proposed to amend the Constitution of the state by striking from Sections 91, 92 and 95 of the Constitution the words "Superintendent of the Public Instruction."

My Creed.
I would be true, for there are those who trust me;
I would be pure for there are those who care;
I would be strong, for there is much to suffer;
I would be brave, for there is much to dare;
I would be friend to all—the foe—the friendless;
I would be giving, and forget the gift;
I would be humble, for I know my weakness;
I would look up—and laugh—and love—and lift.
—Howard Arnold Walter.

Opportunity and Responsibility.
Governor Stanley has the opportunity of making a record that will be a credit to him and to the people who elected him. Certain reforms were promised in the platform on which he ran, and these were not meant as idle words. The people demand them, and will place the responsibility, where it belongs. With the strong guiding hand of the Governor, the General Assembly will likely do anything he recommends. If not, the responsibility will be off his hands.

In another matter, he has both an opportunity and a responsibility. He has many places under his appointment. These he should fill with a view of efficiency rather than the rewarding of friends. He should not desert his friends, it is true, but he could choose efficient ones. We believe he will do this. He is made out of the right sort of stuff.—Bowling Green Messenger.

Ink From Cannel Coal.

This issue of the Times is printed with ink manufactured by the Pearste Company at their plant here. This ink will be manufactured in commercial quantities as by-product of the dye plant. It is made from cannel coal, and is nonpoisonous, and can be oxidized off the paper, enabling the paper manufacturers to use the paper over again. It will be made in different colors as soon as the plant is completed.—Clay City Times.

Ignorance.

A Scotch cabman was driving an American around the sights in Edinburgh. In High street he stopped and, with a wave of his hand, announced, "That is John Knox's house."

"John Knox?" exclaimed the American, "Who was he?"
This was too much for the cabby. "Good heavens!" he exclaimed, "Did you never read your Bible?"—Harper's Magazine.

Always Busy.

"What do these fellows do when they're not watching the scoreboard?" asked the man, pointing to the gang looking skyward as the numbers flashed on the board.
"Oh," retorted the keen observer, "they watch guys fix punctures, follow the cops when they make an arrest, watch building operations; in fact, they're kept pretty busy most of the time."—Buffalo Express.

Unmasculine.

Tommy had a profound contempt for the little boy next door, who threw a ball like a girl, seldom had on any but a clean shirt, and who generally wore gloves.
"Do you know why he's a sissy?" asked Tommy of his aunt. "It's 'cause he looks just like his mother, and that shows he's got girl blood in him."—Harper's Magazine.

George Ade is said to have introduced a speaker at a banquet by remarking:
"Two towns in Indiana lay claim to the honor of Mr. Blank's birthplace." (A pause, during which Mr. Blank strove to look modestly deprecating.)
"Warsaw states that he was born in Kokomo, and Kokomo insists that the honor belongs to Warsaw."—Everybody's.

NOW HER FRIENDS HARDLY KNOW HER

But This Does Not Bother Mrs. Burton, Under the Circumstances.

Houston, Texas.—In an interesting letter from this city, Mrs. S. C. Burton writes as follows: "I think it is my duty to tell you what your medicine, Cardui, the woman's tonic, has done for me.
I was down sick with womanly trouble, and my mother advised several different treatments, but they didn't seem to do me any good. I lingered along for three or four months, and for three weeks, I was in bed, so sick I couldn't bear for any one to walk across the floor.
My husband advised me to try Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken two bottles of Cardui, am feeling fine, gained 15 pounds and do all of my housework. Friends hardly know me, I am so well."
If you suffer from any of the ailments so common to women, don't allow the trouble to become chronic. Begin taking Cardui to-day. It is purely vegetable, its ingredients acting in a gentle, natural way on the weakened womanly constitution. You run no risk in trying Cardui. It has been helping weak women back to health and strength for more than 50 years. It will help you. At all dealers.
